Is this course for me?

The New Approach to ESOL published in May 2009 sets out the government's new approach for planning and delivering ESOL provision. Implementation began in September 2009 and local authorities have started working towards the approach.

The New Approach will impact on ESOL providers. If you have responsibility for organising ESOL provision you need to understand the New Approach to ESOL and the impact it will have on provision in your area and your particular institution.

What will I gain from the briefing session?

- An understanding of the New Approach to ESOL
- An opportunity to consider the implications it will have on your organisation
- An opportunity to find out about how local authorities in your area have responded to the New Approach

What are the criteria for attendance?

It is open to managers, curriculum leaders and ESOL organisers responsible for organising and setting up ESOL provision.
